On August 26, the Board of Directors of the Washington State School Directors' Association voted to oppose Initiative 1240, a proposal to allow charter schools in Washington State. WSSDA has become aware that some people incorrectly interpreted that to mean that a statewide vote of all members of the association was taken. The decision to oppose I-1240 was taken by the board, which includes representatives who have been elected by members in each of 11 sub-state areas, as well as school directors who have been elected as officers of WSSDA. There was no direct vote of all members.
